The Competition

The CNN MultiChoice African Journalist Awards are the longest running, most prestigious Pan African competition for journalism in Africa. The competition aims to reinforce the importance of the journalists' role in Africa and to recognise and develop journalistic talent across all disciplines.

The Competition is open to African professional journalists (including, but not limited to, African freelancers) working on the continent for African media organisations that are headquartered within the continent of Africa and produce a printed publication or electronic medium (television; radio or website) primarily targeted at and received by an African audience.

The Judges will be looking for work which:

- Tells the story in a clear and balanced manner
- Communicates stories or issues from Africa in a comprehensive way
- Has made these stories or issues relevant to their audiences
- Demonstrates investigative and journalistic flair
- Displays well organised research, depth and insight
- Was broadcast or published between January and December 2006, with proof supplied.

THE DEADLINE FOR RECEIPT OF ENTRIES IS February 21st 2007.

Judging will take place in May 2007 by a panel of distinguished, independent judges with a knowledge and experience of journalistic practices in Africa. Panel members cannot vote on work entered by their organisation, employees or family members. Should the quality of entries fall below the standard required, the judges reserve the right not to select a finalist. The judges' decision is final and binding. Submitted material cannot be returned.

THE PRIZES

There are 17 prizes available. These will be awarded for the categories detailed. A prize fund in excess of $250,000, ensures that the finalists enjoy an all expenses paid finalists' programme of activities and workshops culminating in the gala awards ceremony in Cape Town.

Category winners will also receive, a state-of-the-art laptop computer with modem and printer and a substantial cash prize.

OVERALL GRAND PRIZE: CNN MultiChoice African Journalist 2007

From the winners, the judges will award the grand prize to the journalist whose individual piece or body of work merits the title CNN MultiChoice African Journalist 2007, whether they be a Print, Television, Internet, Radio or Photographic entry. In addition to their category prizes, the CNN MultiChoice African Journalist 2007 will receive a further cash prize and will be invited to CNN headquarters in Atlanta*.

*Subject to the Competition rules of entry and policies and in compliance with any legal or immigration requirements as necessary.

RULES OF ENTRY

- The Competition is open to African professional journalists (including, but not limited to, African freelancers) working on the continent for African media organisations that are headquartered within the continent of Africa and produce a printed publication or electronic medium (television; radio or website) primarily targeted at and received by an African audience.
- In the MIH Print Media Award - Best feature in a magazine category, the features entered must appear in an English language magazine published in Africa/the proprietor must be in Africa and the magazine must be sold under its own brand name. The magazine must have a cover price and must be on sale to the general public and appear on the street at least 6 times a year. It is not a newspaper, nor is it a newspaper supplement. It must have the look and feel of a magazine and either be perfect bound or saddle stitched. The editorial must be carefully moulded to reach a specific target market, as opposed to the generalized nature of newspapers.
- All entrants must be at least eighteen years of age.
- No entry fee is payable.
- Employees (and their immediate families) of Turner Broadcasting System Europe Ltd. (TBSEL), and their respective parent companies, subsidiaries and agencies are not eligible to participate in the competition.
- Each entry must have been published or broadcast in 2006.
- Applicants are strictly limited to 2 entries per category; applications containing more than 2 entries per category will be disqualified.
- Each piece of material submitted may only be entered in one category. However the judges reserve the right to transfer material for consideration to other categories at their discretion.
- The judges uphold the integrity and reputation of the CNN MultiChoice African Journalist 2007 competition and, as such, reserve the right to disqualify any piece of work and/or finalist if, in the judges' reasonable opinion there exists reasonable doubt about the authenticity and/or accuracy of the submitted piece.
- Finalists will be required to sign affidavits of eligibility and releases granting TBSEL, MultiChoice and all sponsors of the competition, the right to use their names, voices, pictures and work submitted, without compensation, in any media for the purpose of advertising/public relations, media training in journalist workshops and publicizing all matters related to the competition.
- Entries should be made in accordance with the instructions given in this entry form and must be received on, or before, February 21st 2007 at one of the collection point addresses detailed on this form.
- TBSEL, MultiChoice and all sponsors of the competition will not accept liability for late or lost entries, and illegible or fraudulent entries or acts shall render the entrant ineligible.
- TBSEL and MultiChoice will be entitled to assume ownership rights to all entries received and all entrants agree to execute any documents as may be necessary to transfer such ownership.
- Unless you expressly indicate otherwise, TBSEL shall be entitled to use the information you provide to notify you of any future CNN MultiChoice African Journalist competitions. TBSEL may also share this information with the distinguished organisations who support the competition.
- The judges' decision is final and no correspondence will be entered into.
- 17 prizes will be awarded in the categories listed in this entry form. In addition, one of these winners will be selected as the CNN MultiChoice African Journalist 2007. Subject to compliance with any legal or immigration requirements as necessary, the CNN MultiChoice African Journalist 2007 will be offered a return flight and accommodation to CNN Headquarters in Atlanta.
- The winner is responsible for all other expenses not included in the prize, including, but not limited to, meals, personal expenses and insurance.
- The flight is subject to airline availability. Stopovers and/or open tickets are not permitted.
- No cash alternative to prizes. The sponsors reserve the right to substitute any prizes, of reasonably comparable value, in the event that the award prizes, for any reason, are unavailable. Prizes are not transferable.
- In the event of any discrepancy between the English terms and French terms for the Francophone categories, and English terms and Portuguese terms in the Portuguese language category the English terms and conditions will prevail.
- TBSEL, MultiChoice and all supporters of the competition disclaim any liability for loss to any person or property relating to the delivery and/or subsequent use of, or participation in, any of the prizes awarded. The winners agree to abide by any and all terms and conditions of the supplier(s) of the prizes. The promoter is TBSEL. For a complete list of winners, at the end of July 2007, please email: cnafrica.competition@turner.com
- TBSEL have the right to refuse entries not complying with the above rules.

FREE PRESS AFRICA AWARD ENTRY FORM

The Free Press Africa Award seeks to recognise a journalist whose work demonstrates courage and integrity and enhances the cause of media freedom throughout the Continent. It promotes and encourages journalists in performing the vital service of providing news and information to their communities.

The Free Press Africa Award aims to reward excellence and support African journalists who tell their stories at continuing risk to their safety by covering conflicts, exposing corruption or crises in an atmosphere where information is controlled or often suppressed.

These courageous journalists who cover such stories are not always in a position to enter their work in competitions. Journalists entering their own work in the 2007 competition may use this entry form and also editors, colleagues, fellow journalists and family members may nominate and enter work on their behalf.

Judging takes place in May 2007 and finalists will participate in an all expenses paid finalists' programme of activities and workshops culminating in the gala awards ceremony in July 2007*.
