OKLAHOMA CITY THUNDER NOTES

On the Road Again: The Thunder looks to get its sixth consecutive victory and ninth win in 11 contests as the team heads North to take on the Toronto Raptors tomorrow night. Oklahoma City holds an 11-7 record against the Raptors, winning each of their last two matchups in Toronto. Most recently, The Thunder defeated the Raptors 124-107 at Chesapeake Energy Arena. Oklahoma City is currently one of just five teams in the league to be in the Top 12 in both offensive and defensive efficiency (Golden State, Houston, Toronto, Indiana). The Thunder ranks ninth in defensive rating with 104.3 and 11th in offensive rating with 107.3. Following this game, Oklahoma City will travel to Boston to face off against the Celtics on Tuesday, March 20.

Zero to 100: On March 13 at Atlanta, Russell Westbrook recorded his 100th triple-double of his career and 21st of the season with a game-leading 32 points on 12-of-20 shooting, game-high 12 rebounds and game-best 12 assists, making him the third-fastest player to 100 total (736 games) behind Oscar Robertson (277 games) and Magic Johnson (656 games). Of the other 29 NBA franchises, 23 have fewer triple-doubles in their entire team history than the 101 that Westbrook has logged in his career and since he entered the league in 2008, he holds more than twice as many as any other NBA franchise during that timeframe (Rockets have 42). Oklahoma City is now 17-5 this season when Westbrook registers a triple-double and holds an 83-18 (.822) record over the course of his career. In the Thunder's 110-91 win over the Bucks on Oct. 31, Westbrook produced his fourth with 12 points, 10 rebounds and 10 assists, making him the only player in NBA history besides Oscar Robertson to record at least four triple-doubles in the first seven games of the season. Westbrook notched his third triple-double of the season and first against Chicago on Oct. 28 at Chicago with 12 points, 13 rebounds and 13 assists, making him the only player in NBA history to log a triple-double against all 29 other teams in the league. On Oct. 19 vs. New York, Westbrook logged his 80th career and first opening night triple-double with 21 points, 16 assists and 10 rebounds, joining Oscar Robertson as the only other player in NBA history with at least 20 points, 15 assists and 10 rebounds in a home opener. This makes him one of ten players in league history to record a triple-double on opening night (LeBron James, Jason Kidd, Chris Duhon, Gary Payton, Clyde Drexler, Scottie Pippen, Fat Lever, Larry Bird and Lewis Lloyd). His 16 assists are the most in an opening night triple-double in league history.

ALL-TIME NBA TRIPLE-DOUBLE LEADERS
Oscar Robertson:	181
Magic Johnson:	138
Jason Kidd:	107
Russell Westbrook:	101
Wilt Chamberlain:	78

Turnover a New Leaf: Oklahoma City leads the league in steals per game (8.97) and in opponent turnovers per game (16.0). The Thunder has yet to finish within the Top 5 in the NBA in these categories since they moved to Oklahoma City as their previous season bests were 8.28 steals per game in 2012-13 and 15.2 opponent turnovers per game in 2013-14. Additionally, the Thunder tops the NBA leaderboard for deflections per game (16.8), forced turnovers on 16.0% of opponent possessions, which tops the league, and recovers the most loose balls each game (9.6). Paul George ranks first in the league in deflections per game (4.1), second in total steals (136) and is second in total loose balls recovered (120). Russell Westbrook has recovered the most loose balls each game (2.1), is fourth in total steals (123) and is sixth in total deflections (221).

Elite Company: Since the start of the 2009-10 season, the Thunder has won five Northwest Division titles, reached the Conference Finals on four occasions, the NBA Finals once and amassed a record of 460-251 (.647). Based on winning percentage, the Oklahoma City Thunder ranks as the fourth most winning team among the four major professional sports (NBA, NFL, MLB & NHL).

BEST RECORDS SINCE 2009-10 SEASON (includes NBA, NFL, MLB & NHL teams)
New England Patriots	.778 (112-32)
San Antonio Spurs	.711 (504-205)
Green Bay Packers	.657 (94-49-1)
Oklahoma City Thunder	.647 (460-251)

Leaders of the Pack: The Thunder has three players in the Top 5 league leaders as Russell Westbrook is first in the NBA in assists per game (10.2), Paul George has the second-most total steals (139) and Steven Adams has the fourth-best field goal percentage (.632, 383-606 FG). Additionally, Westbrook is fourth in terms of total steals (123), ninth in scoring (25.2) and 12th in rebounds per game (9.7) while Adams is 14th in rebounds per game (9.0) and Paul George is 20th in scoring (21.8).

You've Been Hit by a Smooth Carmelo: On March 6 vs. Houston, Carmelo Anthony scored 23 points to pass Jerry West on the NBA's all-time scoring list. Anthony now ranks 20th (25,274 points) and third among active players behind Dirk Nowitzki and LeBron James. Anthony is also one of five players in league history alongside Kobe Bryant, LeBron James, Dirk Nowitzki and Paul Pierce to record 25,000 points, 6,000 rebounds, 3,000 assists, 1,000 steals and 1,000 three-point field goals and the only one besides Patrick Ewing to start in each of his first 1,000 games.

NBA ALL-TIME SCORING LIST
18. Alex English	25,613
19. Reggie Miller	25,279
20. Carmelo Anthony	25,274
21. Jerry West	25,192
22. Patrick Ewing	24,815

Hip, Hip Jorge: Paul George hit his 200th three-pointer on March 6 vs. Houston, making him just the third player to hit that milestone this season (Harden, Curry) and the only one with at least 200 threes and 350 rebounds on the season. Additionally, George tallied five straight games with at least five made three-pointers from Feb. 6-14, making him just the fifth player in NBA history and first Thunder player to produce such a streak (George McCloud, Dennis Scott, Stephen Curry, James Harden). Only McCloud has registered a longer streak (six games from Feb. 25 to March 5, 1996).

Kiwi Sun Screen: Steven Adams leads all NBA players in screen assists per game (4.9). He also ranks second in the league in offensive rebounds, averaging 5.1, and ranks tied for fourth in second chance points (4.5) and is eighth in points in the paint (11.7).

Russdicious Performance: Russell Westbrook finished 2017 with 38 triple-doubles, the most in a calendar year in NBA history ahead of Oscar Robertson's 34 in 1961, beating his previous record of 31 from 2016 (per Elias). On Dec. 27 vs. Toronto, he passed Kevin Durant's 15,942 points to become the leading scorer in Thunder history. Westbrook also led the league in scoring last season (31.6 points per game) and so far this season leads the NBA in assists (10.2 assists per game). No player in NBA history has ever led the league in scoring and then assists in consecutive seasons.

Analytics Corner: Throughout the Thunder era, Oklahoma City has always been on the cutting edge of analytics and advanced statistics. Throughout the 2017-18 season, Thunder Basketball Communications will provide the media with various data points and advanced basketball metrics.

- The Thunder is forcing turnovers on 16.0% of opponent possessions which leads the NBA
- Just 17.7% of opponent field goal attempts and shooting fouls drawn are in Transition which is second in the NBA
- Oklahoma City tops the league with an offensive rebounding percentage of 27.8%
- The Thunder ranks seventh in the NBA in Net Rating with 3.0 and is ninth in Defensive Rating with 104.3.

OKLAHOMA CITY THUNDER NOTES

Adam(s)ant About Scoring: Steven Adams ranks fourth in the league in field goal percentage (.632, 383-606 FG) and is fifth in offensive rating (126.1). In three games from Dec. 1-5, totaled 66 points off 28-for-34 shooting. On Jan. 28 vs. Philadelphia, dished out his 300th assist, making him one of five players since he was drafted in 2013 with at least 300 assists, 2,000 rebounds and a .580 field goal percentage (DeAndre Jordan, Dwight Howard, Rudy Gobert, Andrew Bogut). On Dec. 1 vs. Minnesota, Adams went 11-for-11 from the field and 5-for-5 from the charity stripe, matching the second-best shooting performance from the field in Thunder history after Serge Ibaka's 12-for-12 on Jan. 31, 2014, and setting a new career-high with 27 points. He is also the only player in NBA history besides Chris Mullin on Dec. 1, 1990 to be perfect from both the field and free throw line with at least 11 and five attempts, respectively. On Nov. 20 at New Orleans, Adams scored his 2,500th-career point, making him one of just two players since he was drafted in 2013 with as many points and at least 300 blocks and 200 steals in less than 8,000 minutes (Mason Plumlee).

25K Magic: On Jan. 27 at Detroit, Carmelo Anthony scored his 25,000th career point, which makes him just the 21st player in NBA history and the 10th forward to reach that mark. Anthony is one of just four players in league history with as many points while shooting at least 34.5% from three-point range (Dirk Nowitzki, Reggie Miller, Paul Pierce) as well as the 11th fastest player to do so.

Written in the All-Stars: Two-time NBA All-Star game MVP Russell Westbrook has been named a 2018 NBA All-Star for the seventh time in his career. Paul George joined Westbrook in Los Angeles and making his fifth All-Star appearance, replacing New Orleans' DeMarcus Cousins. Both Westbrook and George played for Team LeBron. This marks the ninth consecutive season that the Thunder has had at least one All-Star selection, a streak that ranks second only to the San Antonio Spurs (20). Additionally, Rashawn Thomas of the Thunder's G League affiliate, the Oklahoma City Blue, was selected to participate the 2018 NBA G League International Challenge as a part of All-Star weekend.

Winter Wonders: Over the months of Dec. and Jan., the Thunder went 22-9 (.710) and averaged 108.6 points per game and shooting percentages of .467 from the field and .358 from three-point range. Prior to the start of Dec., Oklahoma City was 8-12 (.400), averaging 102.3 points per game while shooting .437 from the floor and .346 from beyond the arc. OKC only gave up four turnovers on Jan. 23, the second-fewest in Thunder history. The Thunder outrebounded opponents by more than 20 boards in each of the three games from Jan. 15-20, marking the first streak of this kind in Thunder history.

Wild, Wild Westbrook, the Lone Ranger: In the Thunder's 100-94 victory over the Jazz on Dec. 5, Russell Westbrook blocked his 200th shot, setting himself apart as the only player in the history of the NBA with at least 200 blocks, 5,000 rebounds and 15,000 points within his first 700 games.

League of Legends: Oklahoma City sprinkles the NBA career leaderboards as Carmelo Anthony and Russell Westbrook hold the third and seventh best scoring averages among active players with 24.2 and 22.9, respectively. Additionally, Westbrook has the second-best career usage rating in NBA history (32.74) behind Michael Jordan and the fourth-best career assist percentage (42.3). Among active players, Westbrook has the sixth-highest career average for steals per game (1.73) while Paul George ranks eighth (1.70). George also holds the fourth-best career defensive rating among active players (101.42).

Like Mike: Russell Westbrook recorded 13 consecutive games from Dec. 20 to Jan. 13 in which he logged a double-double with at least 20 points. This sets him apart as just the second guard in the history of the NBA to have such a streak of 10 games or more behind Michael Jordan who had 15 straight in 1989.

Blue Review: The Thunder's G League affiliate, the Oklahoma City Blue holds a 25-21 record this season after downing the Iowa Wolves (Minnesota Timberwolves affiliate) 116-91 on Saturday, March 10. Oklahoma City has a defense that ranks sixth in the G League in opponent turnovers per game (18.2) and seventh in steals per game (9.67). Two-way player Daniel Hamilton has led the team in assists in 35 of the 41 games he appeared in and is tied for fourth in the league in assists per game (7.8) and 12th in rebounds per game (8.8). Hamilton has also notched a league-leading eight triple-doubles this season, including three straight from Nov. 18-24. Michael Cobbins holds the second-best field goal percentage among G Leaguers with .669 (162-242). Additionally, Rashawn Thomas was named to Team USA for the FIBA World Cup Qualifying first round, the teams' second such selection this season.

December to Remember: Oklahoma City went 12-5 in December and ranked third in the NBA for the month (Golden State, Toronto). Since Dec. 1, OKC holds a 14-0 record when playing with all five starters. The Thunder also accumulated the most rebounds (778), most steals (143) and second-most blocks (89) out of any team in the league last month. Additionally, OKC ranked second in the league in second chance points (252) and third in points off turnovers (279) for the month. Russell Westbrook averaged a triple-double of 27.8 points, 10.2 rebounds and 10.6 assists in December and was named Western Conference Player of the Month for the eighth time in his career.

Not Taken for Grant(ed): On Dec. 20 vs. Jerami Grant blocked his 300th-career shot, which makes him the only player since he was drafted in 2014 to have at least 1,800 points and 300 blocks in less than 70 starts. Additionally, on Dec. 3 vs. San Antonio, Grant played his 100th game in an OKC uniform, making him the only player in Thunder history besides Serge Ibaka to log at least 600 points, 250 rebounds and 90 blocks in his first 100 games.

One T-Ferg the Record Books: In his first career start on Jan. 3 at LA Lakers, Terrance Ferguson scored a career-best and game-high-tying 24 points on 6-for-9 shooting from three-point range, making him just the third NBA player ever to record at least 24 points and six three-pointers in their first career start (DJ Augustin 2008, Sam Dekker 2017).

ThundeRuss Birthday: On Nov. 12, Russell Westbrook celebrated his 29th birthday with a 112-99 victory over the Dallas Mavericks. He stands as just one of three players in NBA history with at least 15,000 points, 5,000 assists and 4,000 rebounds before age 29 along with Oscar Robertson and LeBron James.

Paul in a Day's Work: On Dec. 27 vs. Toronto, Paul George grabbed his 3,000th rebound and on Dec. 13 at Indiana he snagged his 800th-career steal, making him the only player since he was drafted in 2010 with at least 3,000 rebounds, 800 steals and a three-point percentage of .370 or better. In that same timeframe, he is one of just five players with at least 8,000 points in 400 starts or less alongside Damian Lillard, Isaiah Thomas, Kyrie Irving and Kemba Walker.

Abrinesolutely Amazing: On Dec. 9 at Memphis, Alex Abrines set a new career-high with 20 points (7-10 FG, 6-8 3FG) en route to scoring his 500th-career point. This makes him just the fifth player in Thunder history with at least 500 points, 37% shooting on 100 threes and 50 steals within his first 100 games (Kevin Durant, James Harden, Kevin Martin and Anthony Morrow).

20/20 Vision: On Oct. 28 at Chicago, Carmelo Anthony recorded a game-leading 21 points, making him the first player in Thunder history to score at least 20 points in his first six games with Oklahoma City. He has also led the team in scoring eight times and logged six double-doubles.

We Swish You a Merry Christmas: After downing the Rockets 112-107 on Dec. 25, OKC holds a 6-2 record when playing on Christmas Day. Russell Westbrook is one of five players to register a triple-double on Christmas (LeBron James, Billy Cunningham, John Havlicek and Oscar Robertson) and is tied with Scottie Pippen for the most steals (24) while ranking seventh in assists (68). Among active players, he ranks fourth in points (190), and eighth in rebounds (58). Additionally, Carmelo Anthony ranks second among all active players in points per game (31.0).

Comeback Kids: Oklahoma City came back from 20 points down in the second quarter to earn a 102-101 overtime victory over the Grizzlies on Dec. 9. This ties the second-largest comeback victory in Thunder history from March 29, 2015 at Phoenix, just after the 21-point comeback on March 29, 2017 at Orlando.

OKLAHOMA CITY THUNDER NOTES

Opening Night: Oklahoma City tipped off its 10th NBA season by taking on the New York Knicks on Oct. 19 at Chesapeake Energy Arena, which marked the club's 300th consecutive sellout. In this game, Oklahoma City held New York to the lowest opponent opening night score in Thunder history (previous low was 86 points against the Spurs on Nov. 1, 2012). The Thunder now holds a 9-1 record in home openers, which is tied for second-best in the league since the 2008-09 season (Miami, San Antonio) behind Portland's 10-0 record. They also now hold a 7-3 opening night record while going 3-0 under Head Coach Billy Donovan.

Preseason Basketball: The Thunder wrapped up preseason play with a Tuesday night contest against the Nuggets at the Pepsi Center in Denver, where they won 96-86. This matchup was the fourth and final game of Oklahoma City's 10th preseason, following games against Houston, New Orleans and Melbourne United of Australia's National Basketball League. The Thunder now holds a preseason record of .500 or better in seven of the eight last seasons.

100 for Billy: Last season, Billy Donovan notched his 100th career victory to become the first head coach in NBA history to win 100 games in the first two seasons after coming immediately from the college ranks. Moreover, Donovan is one of three current NBA head coaches to win 100 wins in two seasons with their current respective franchise (Carlisle and Kerr). In all of NBA history, only 18 coaches have won 100 games in their first two NBA seasons as head coach. Additionally, Donovan became just the third first-year head coach in the last 15 years to win 55+ games during his first season.

Triple-Double Dip: To cap off his MVP season, Russell Westbrook registered his NBA-record-setting 42nd triple-double of the season on April 9, 2017 in Denver (Oscar Robertson tallied 41 triple-doubles during the 1961-62 season). Trailing 103-105 with 2.9 seconds left, Westbrook connected on a game-winning 36-foot 3-point field goal to also become the only player in NBA history to post three 50-point triple-doubles in a single season. Furthermore, he is the only player in NBA history to register seven consecutive triple doubles on two separate occasions during a single season. Westbrook also posted five straight 30-point triple-doubles last season to become the only player in NBA history to ever accomplish the feat. To put further perspective on Westbrook's triple-doubles, there are 11 NBA teams that have amassed fewer triple-doubles in their entire team history as compared to the 42 logged by Westbrook last season.

OK3: The trio of Russell Westbrook, Paul George and Carmelo Anthony combined for 5,992 total points last season, which is the most by any other set of three teammates in the league this year. They are followed by Minnesota's Karl-Anthony Towns, Andrew Wiggins and Jimmy Butler (5,810 combined points) and Cleveland's Isaiah Thomas, LeBron James and Derrick Rose (5,307 combined points).

MOST COMBINED POINTS LAST SEASON BY CURRENT TRIO
Russell Westbrook	2,558	Paul George	1,775	Carmelo Anthony	1,659	5,992 total points
Karl-Anthony Towns	2,061	Andrew Wiggins	1,933	Jimmy Butler	1,816	5,810 total points
Isaiah Thomas	2,199	LeBron James	1,954	Derrick Rose	1,154	5,307 total points

Summer Lovin: Over the summer, the Thunder acquired two perennial All-Stars in Carmelo Anthony and Paul George. Anthony is a 10-time All-Star who started in eight of those ten games and George started in two of his four All-Star appearances. Anthony also earned the honor of NBA scoring champion for the 2012-13 season along with his six All-NBA selections. George was named the 2012-13 most improved player in the NBA while earning three All-NBA and three All-Defensive selections himself.

Fun and Olympic Games: This year's Thunder squad contains three Olympic gold medalists for Team USA including Carmelo Anthony (2008, 2012, 2016), Russell Westbrook (2012) and Paul George (2016). Additionally, Carmelo Anthony holds the title of all-time leading scorer for the United States Olympic Men's National Team. Oklahoma City also has two Olympic bronze medalists in Carmelo Anthony (2004) and Alex Abrines (2016) who played for Spain.

OKC is Fan Friendly: The Thunder once again played in front of a packed house at Chesapeake Energy Arena on opening night vs. New York on Oct. 19, recording its 300th consecutive sellout (including both regular season and playoffs). Oklahoma City was also named first in the league in fan experience following a league-wide audit last season and ranks third in the NBA in local TV ratings, fifth in season ticket subscriptions and renewals, and seventh in social media audience and merchandise sales. Fans in attendance this season will enjoy the improvements made to Chesapeake Energy Arena for the Thunder's 10th anniversary including a Thunder Cares community outreach display, Oklahoma Sports Hall of Fame viewing area, season ticket member recognition wall, interactive digital display where fans can share their stories, KultureCity sensory-inclusion area for fans that needs a calm, quiet atmosphere, digital Fan Assist to provide fans with real-time support, and much more.

Home Cooking: Since arriving in Oklahoma City in 2008, the Thunder has always taken pride in defending its home court. Oklahoma City finished the 2015-16 season with a home record of 32-9 (tied for 4th best home record in the NBA). Included in that, OKC went an impressive 23-3 at Chesapeake Energy Arena that year when facing Western Conference opponents. Dating back to the start of the 2009-10 season, OKC has gone 265-90 (.746) at home, which stands as the second-best home record in the NBA during this span.

Sustaining Success: In the past eight seasons, OKC has compiled the second-best record in the NBA (behind San Antonio). After the 2008-09 season in which Oklahoma City won 20 games after a 3-29 start, the Thunder found ways to improve the club in each of the four subsequent seasons. With a 60-22 record during the 2012-13 season, Oklahoma City became just the second team in NBA history (Boston, 1955-1960) to increase its winning percentage for five consecutive seasons (while maintaining a winning percentage of .700 or better in two of those seasons). On March 24, 2016, the Thunder claimed a 22-point home victory over the Jazz and in the process, OKC recorded the team's 50th win of the season. Oklahoma City has now finished with a winning percentage of .610 (equivalent to 50 wins) six times dating back to the 2009-10 season. Only the San Antonio Spurs (eight seasons with .610 or better winning percentage), have reached that benchmark more during this period. After finishing the 2016-17 season with a record of 47-35, OKC is now one of three teams (Houston and San Antonio) to maintain a .500 or better record in each of the last eight seasons. The chart to the below illustrates the development of the Thunder program through the years.

Season	Winning %	Playoff Finish
2016-17	.563 (47-35)	Lost in first round
