Community Warriors

On Friday, May 26th, the Sea Dubs, in partnership with FoodWhat?! and Kaiser Permanente, hosted a Warriors Water Station for 250 students from Santa Cruz County at the FoodWhat?! Strawberry Blast. The FoodWhat?! Strawberry Blast is an event for middle and high school students throughout the county that uses strawberries to focus on student health, the Santa Cruz food system, and relevant food justice issues. At the Warriors Water Station, the students were provided with water bottles and bowls of fruits to make their own custom infused waters with direction from Warriors' front office staff. FoodWhat?! is a youth empowerment and food justice organization serving local low-income teens using food and farming as a vehicle for significant diet change, job training, and profound personal growth.

On Thursday, May 25th, the Santa Cruz Chamber of Commerce hosted an event in honor of the Santa Cruz Warriors to celebrate the economic success that the Sea Dubs bring to the community. The Warriors' front office staff was in attendance, as well as General Manager Kent Lacob and President Chris Murphy, who both spoke to all in attendance.

GET TO KNOW OUR FRONT OFFICE...

Gwena Pitt

Marketing Specialist /Graphic Designer

Where are you from?

I was born in Portland, Maine and raised in Saint Petersburg, Florida.

What's a day in the office like for you?

Every day is a new adventure! The marketing team works together on whatever projects come our way, from social media, to emails, to in-arena collateral, to helping design merchandise/giveaways. Every visual graphic you see, the marketing team puts together!

How long have you been with the Warriors organization?

I joined last August, for the 2016-17 season. Just finished my rookie year!

What's your favorite part about living in Santa Cruz?

I love the easy access to the coastline with some of the most beautiful beaches in the world, along with the community we have here with the Warriors Organization.

If you could be any animal, what would it be?

I would be a bird that can fly long distance. I could travel the world without having to pay for my flights!

Come by our Team Store at 903 Pacific Ave. to pick up your gear for the 2017 NBA Finals! We also have a large selection of Santa Cruz Warriors gear, including great sales!
